REAL ESTATE - CONSTRUCTION

Since joining Racine, Nicolas has developed his expertise in advising all professionals involved in real estate construction projects (investors, developers, architects, contractors). He advises clients on structuring their project, contract selection and drafting and throughout the construction process continuing after delivery.

As preferred counsel for the architecture experts attached to the Lyon Court of Appeals, Nicolas plays an active role in providing training both for them and, more generally, for all court experts in the construction sector in Lyon.

He also lectures on builders' liability and construction insurance at bar school.
